HOW DOES IT ALL WORK?

HOSTING FAQs

We've compiled a list of common questions about hosting a Sunday Lounge Session.

How does it all work?

Hosting your own Sunday Lounge Session is easy. All you need to do is fill in a few short details and send them through to us either via the online form (www.communitymusicproject.net) or in an email communitymusicp@gmail.com. Once we've got your details we'll set up an event web page (using Eventbrite) which contains details about your specific event as well as some FAQs. You can use the in Eventbrite page to share the details with your friends, promote the event or just for your personal information.

Do I need to be musical to host?

Absolutley not! We encourage all musicians and music lovers to host a Sunday Lounge Session.

Who should I invite to my Lounge Session?

If you are hosting your first Lounge Session, a good place to start is with friends and family. The number of people you invite will depend on the size of your space, however we generally find Sessions work best with at least 4 - 6 different musical items. If you don't know this many musicians, you could consider opening your event up to the local community. If you choose to open your event to local musicians, we will assist you in promoting your event to encourage other like-minded musicians to come along.

How should I run the Lounge Session?

We encourage you to run your Lounge Session with your own personal flair and within your comfort zone. Previous sessions have included a variety of musical genres. They have also varied in format including solo/duo performances, chamber music, jam sessions and a mixture of all the above. There is no right or wrong way to host your event - the main purpose is that everyone (including yourself) has a positive music-sharing experience.

Where should I host my Lounge Session?

There is no limit to the type of spaces or places you can host your event. Of course you need to be mindful and courteous to your neighbours and/or housemates.

How should I promote my event?

If you want to run a community session, we can assist you in setting up an Eventbrite page and promoting it through our social media channels and events directories. If you are in Sydney, we are also more than happy to come along to assist on the day.

What should attendees bring?

We usually ask people to bring a plate of nibbles and/or a drink to share with others at the end of the Session. The purpose of Sunday Lounge Sessions is to encourage local musicians to share music with each other in a fun and relaxed environment and for this reason we discourage hosts from charging an entrance fee.
